BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr.
Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.
The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel.
They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums.
So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.
Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "tired" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c.

HESS EMPLOYEES GUESTS AT DANCE

Five Course Dinner Precedes Ball at Elk Hall
Friday Evening—Talks
Are Given.

Over one hundred and fifty guests were entertained at a "get acquainted" banquet and dance given by the A. P.
Hess Automobile company at the Elk Hall, Friday evening.
The arrangements under the direction of A. P. Hess, were unusually elaborate. Dinner of five courses, was served in the banquet hall at 7 o'clock.
The tables were so arranged to outline a large letter "H" and the favors were green carnations.
Baskets filled with fireworks and carnations centered the tables.
At the conclusion of the dinner Mr.
Hess gave a short talk telling of the origin of the company in 1906 and how it had been the effort of the company to stand for the higher business ideals as shown by the business shield adopted by the company which has "honor, quality, strength and service" for its motto. Mr. Hess told of what service meant. Service is not only efficiency but a desire to satisfy and the satisfaction obtained in satisfying.
He told his employees he was proud of them and they should be proud of their connection with the organization as large as the Ford company. Mr. Hess introduced his guest, George Thomas of Portland, Ore. a former Newark man who told of his experiences with reference to the value gained from "get together" meetings of employer and employee.

Mr. Hynick, representing the Ford company of Cleveland gave some interesting information concerning the Ford production. The company now employs 100,000 people at the Detroit and Dearborn plants. It has on file orders for 238,000 cars and 40,000 farm tractors. Thirty-six assembly plants are operated throughout the country employing 12,000 men. In six months the Ford company will endeavor to turn out 5,000 cars a day.

Each guest was then called upon to introduce himself and several made short complimentary talks regarding the Hess company.
The dinner was followed by dancing, a number having been invited to the dance, who did not attend the banquet. A splendid dance program was turnisted by the Wyeth-Rosebraugh orchestra.

During the evening Messrs. Bruuin and McClure of Columbus amateur vaudeville performers gave an entertainment and were warmly received.
Miss Mary Elizabeth Hess, daughter of A. P. Hess, appeared garbed as an "old fashioned girl," singing a charming little song "Jump, Jump, Jump." Dancing continued from 9 to 12 o'clock. The A. P. Hess company is one of the larger business concerns of the city, originating and growing in Newark. Co-operation has been the keynote of the organization aiding materially in bringing it to its present zenith of success.

TREATY UNRATIFIED

submitted by Senator Knox. His resolution proposes the repeal of the joint resolution declaring war and provides that unless Germany notifies the United States of its acceptance of all undertakings contained in the treaty of Versailles, the President would have the power to prohibit by proclamation commercial intercourse between the two nations, or the giving of any assistance to Germany. When the Knox resolution was put forward last December, considerable opposition to it was manifest in the house. There is a question whether the two legislative branches could get together on an accepted draft of the resolution, or if President Wilson would accept it, if passed. His signature is required to make the joint resolution effective.

Senator Fall last summer submitted a series of questions to the President regarding the peace question in which he asked if Congress and the President could not declare peace by a "process verbal" such as a resolution. President Wilson was emphatic at that time in his disapproval of such a course.
"I felt constrained to say," he wrote the New Mexican senator, "that in my judgment, I have the power by proclamation to declare that peace exists, but that I could in no circumstances consent to take such a course prior to the ratification of a formal treaty of peace."

"I feel it would, in perfect frankness, to say that it would, in my opinion, put a strain upon our national honor which we never could efface, if after sending our men to the battlefield, to fight the common cause, we should abandon our associates from all responsibility with regard to those terms."

HIGH LIGHTS IN TREATY BATTLE

Washington, March 20.—Following is the chronology in the treaty fight beginning after the defeat of ratification last November and coming to a climax last night.

Jan. 15.—Bipartisan conference begun, which lasted about two weeks, ending in disagreement on all except minor reservations.

Jan. 26.—President Wilson wrote to Senator Hitchcock (in reply to senator's letter of Jan. 22, submitting proposed reservation to Article X), stating his opposition to strong reservations.

Feb. 9.—On motion of Senator Lodge, senate reconsidered vote by which ratification was rejected in November and recommitted treaty to foreign relations committee.

Feb. 10.—Senator Lodge reported treaty to senate with reservations.

Feb. 16.—Consideration of treaty begun in senate.

March 8.—President Wilson again wrote to Senator Hitchcock, stating his opposition to any but interpretative reservations.

March 18.—Last of fifteen reservations agreed to in committee of the whole and reported to senate. Reservations adopted by senate. Senator Lodge introduced resolution of ratification.

March 19.—Amendments by Senator Lodge to resolution of ratification agreed to without roll call.

New Portable Furnace.

A recently designed portable industrial furnace is self-contained, requiring no wire or pipe connections as it is moved about in shop or field. Its fuel is kerosene, which is reduced to a gas the moment before being ignited, and is claimed to give a temperature ranging from 2,500 to 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit. The kerosene is held in a storage tank supported under the burner on the stand carrying the burner. The capacity is sufficient for a ten-hour shift, in which the ordinary consumption is not over seven and one-half gallons, and the oil is supplied to the burner by air compressed to 80 to 90 pounds, one charge of air sufficing for the day's work. The nonoxidizing character of the flame permits leaving hot metal in the furnace a long time without damage. The furnace is especially adapted for heating rivets and for hardening tools, but may be useful in many other operations.

For Culture in the Home

Familiarity with the musical masterpieces of the world is essential to true culture.

To be familiar with these masterpieces as reproduced by The Cheney is to know them intimately. For Cheney reproductions are marked by a fidelity to the original which is distinctive. All of the loveliness of tone and the rich quality imparted by the artist are restored in their true beauty, unimpaired.

It is the result of entirely original acoustic inventions, evolved and perfected in The Cheney and found in that instrument alone.

SEVEN PER CENT CUMULATIVE PREFERRED Specialized Management

When the officers of the Newark Stamping and Foundry company decided to purchase the May-Fieberger furnace company of Akron and make the product in Newark, they realized that the furnace business was the one in which to specialize. The other chief product the Thompson Indestructible Hose Clamp was SOLD to 80 to 85 per cent of the automobile manufacturers and accessory dealers. The chances of expansion in this product were but fifteen per cent, hence the purchase of the furnace business. The natural tendency in building is toward a central heating system. This the product of the company supplies, in the Ath-A-Nor furnaces, for homes, halls, churches, etc.

Shortly after the purchase of the furnace business, Mr. E. A. Gulick, who for six years has been the assistant general manager of the May-Fieberger company, was induced to come to Newark and oversee the production of the furnace. And since this is the most important work of the Newark Stamping company, the Board of Directors gave Mr. Gulick complete charge of the company, by electing him president and general manager. His general business knowledge and his specialized work in the sales and production of the furnace makes him rank with any in the country in this business.

A working capital is needed to keep the output up to the highest point of efficiency, and to provide a larger output. The Demand Exceeds the Supply. Then with specialized management, an established concern, dividends always promptly paid, the demand exceeding supply, the investor has a safe, sane investment in the seven per cent, cumulative preferred stock of this company.

A Community Reflector A Shrinking Violet

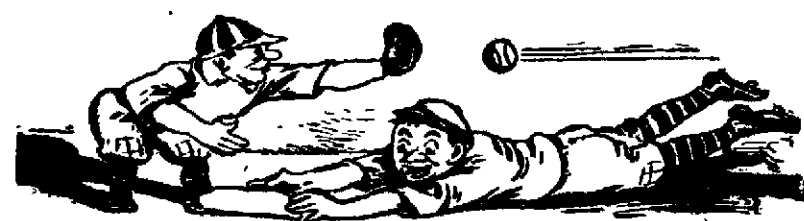

The Modesty of the Shrinking Violet has been Praised by the Poets in Song and Story. The chief Characteristic of the Violet is that it is left to Bloom Unseen, thereby bringing Joy to only those who find it.

And so it is with Cities. The City that has not a Community Organization, to "toot" to the World the Virtues of that City, becomes as the Shrinking Violet—hidden to the eyes of those who would Cherish it. That City becomes as a Dull Light without a Reflector. And the People of That City have Said in their Hearts "There is Nothing Worth-while to Reflect in Our City."

There are Cities that Radiate Happiness, Pleasure and Progress; there are Cities Infested with Gloom. In either case it's the Men and Women of those Communities that make the City exactly what it is. Each may have Willing Workers—

But the City that Spreads Gloom to the Outside World is one where the Individuals Strive Separately—like the Unseen Violet. Then there are cities whose Individuals Strive and Thrive Collectively—and become the COMMUNITY REFLECTOR.

THE COMMUNITY REFLECTOR IS THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

After playing rings around the Y Seniors in the first half of last night's conflict at Hickey hall the Wehrle squad lost their range on the basket in the final period and the triangle team skinned by and copped the game.

Wiley's entry for the Y boys saved the game. Christman's good shots helped shore over the score. Noll was the individual star for the store man-ers in getting points while Home and Lanagan figured strongly in the game work. Score, first half: Wehrle 6, Seniors 2. Final score: Y Seniors 20, Wehrle, 16.

TREATY REJECTED.

By a vote of 49 to 35 the Senate last night again rejected the ratification of the peace treaty with the League of Nations as amended. This is the second time the Senate has definitely rejected the German treaty and League of Nations covenant.

Last night's vote showed fifteen less than the two-thirds membership or 64 required by the constitution to ratify a treaty. Of these 49 who voted for the treaty 28 were Republican and 21 Democrats. Thirty-five senators voted against ratification, of whom 23 were Democrats and 12 Republicans.

For many weary months the consideration of the peace treaty has dragged along in the Senate. There is disappointment but no great surprise at the result of last night's vote. The question is, what shall be done now? Is there still hope of getting the treaty ratified or is the treaty to be taken into the campaign?

There is no doubt that the people are weary of the deadlock and would welcome mutual concessions that would bring peace.

GIRL RUNAWAYS.

Not all the mysterious disappearances consist of weary fathers tired of supporting a family. Police records show many reports of missing girls, enticed away from home by false allurements.

The motive is not always vicious. Two girls were picked out of a box car at Nashville, Tenn., a few days ago, dressed as boys. They wanted to see the world, but were mighty glad to get some food and girls' clothes and transportation back to home. Sweet Home. Mere desire for adventure incites many escapades.

It is the universal testimony that young wanderers bitterly regret their indiscretions. Modern life is so full of activity and opportunity for all kinds of wholesome development, that anyone who throws over these chances out of their wanderlust or vicious propensities, seems almost to have a subnormal mind.

REWARDING HONESTY.

A New York boy picked up in the street an order authorizing bearer to carry away $1,200,000 worth of bonds. On returning it where it belonged, he was given a reward of only $2.00. The concern probably felt that virtue is its own reward, and that people ought to be willing to do the right thing and expect nothing for it.

However, some people will say that such a case might have furnished occasion for showing that honesty is appreciated. Those who mislay valuables might well fine themselves a substantial amount for their carelessness, by giving a generous gratuity.

Every time a boy gets recognition for doing an honest thing when he may have been tempted to something else, it helps to prove that honesty pays. Also that the world appreciates those who play the game straight.

The present theory of economics is to pay brains less than muscle. The savages of Central Africa have gone on that basis for 2,000 years, and have not got very far.

The report that several thousands more of Armenians have been massacred shows that conditions are again normal in Turkey.

DISABLED SOLDIERS.

Usually have produced a great body of helpless and pathetic cripples, whose lives have been wrecked, and the majority of whom were dependents. The government plans for re-educating the soldiers crippled in the late war, for business and industrial pursuits, may work out some time. But the government, like other large bodies, moves very slowly. The Federal Board for Vocational Education, is coming in for sharp criticism, for alleged red tape methods and delays in paying this debt of honor and patriotic duty.

If, as claimed, an interval of six or more months usually takes place after a man is accepted for such training before he can begin work, there is a deplorable lack of business system. It is unfair to relatives who have to support a man who gave his all to his country. Yet he is put off from month to month as if he were an undeserving beggar. It is a poor reward for patriotism, and the sight is not one to thrill the youth of the land with zeal in the service of their country.

A helpless man under such circumstances quickly gets into a hopeless frame of mind, and every week's delay makes it harder for him to take up his new task of training. Without this re-education a crippled man will be handicapped for life, and he may lose heart and go to pieces in despondency and failure. The American people feel intensely interested in the welfare of these men. They will go the limit to set them on their feet in business or industry.

The Advocate expresses the sentiment of the soldiers and their relatives, when it asks the congressmen from Ohio to do what they can to promote the speedy progress of this patriotic work.

"BLUE SKY" OPERATIONS.

A new method for checking the stock promoters who are working off speculative and worthless securities on confiding people, is being tried out by the Monroe County, Iowa, Farm Bureau.

This Bureau asks the public in its territory not to buy securities not recommended by the bureau, and suggests that financial salesmen get its O. K. before circulating among the people.

This seems a hopeful way of checking the feverish Get Rich Quick campaign, by which great numbers of people are losing money. The law can not easily discriminate in these cases. But if people would refuse to listen to security salesmen who can't get an O. K. from some recognized business authority, many old-tongued gentlemen would have to take up some useful work. Also there would be more money to develop meritorious projects.

The politicians are investigating the things that have been done in the past, while the people are investigating the things the politicians are going to do in the future.

The voice of the people will be heard in the coming primaries, but the politicians softly treading around in their gunshoes are telling the people what to say.

After paying for having his house fixed up this spring, the householder will have no doubt that painting is one of the fine arts.

Married Strangers

A powerful story dealing with a problem being worked out in thousands of American homes to-day—that of the husband and wife who find they grow apart while the man goes off to war.

CII.—The New Champion.

Keitha was much refreshed after a long sleep with the keen breeze blowing from the sea, entering her state-room unchecked. The unpleasant feeling of the day before had vanished and her eyes were bright and her cheeks filled with fresh color.

She rang for the stewardess and ordered her rolls and coffee served in bed. She was taking no chances on a return of the old feeling.

After breakfast, she had her bath and made a careful morning toilet. When she finally came on deck, she was a charming picture of correct grooming.

During the night the ship had passed through the zone of rain and mist and the sky that morning was unclouded, already holding a suggestion of tropic brightness. The sea was calm and smiling, stretching away in unbroken azure to the horizon line. The air was soft and languorous, as spring.

In deference to the change of temperature, Keitha wore the smartest of the latest fashions, a light blue dress, which she had bought at her wedding gift from her guardian, gleamed through its diaphanous blue folds.

She did not need the admiring eyes of Mr. Copley Warner or the other men who lounged on deck to tell her that she looked extraordinarily pretty. She had made sure of that before she prepared to face the enemy in the person of Mrs. Warrington.

Neither Bennett nor the red-haired man were visible. Keitha guessed that they were off together somewhere. She had found a note from Bennett on her table last night, which informed her that he was going on deck and that he was "at her service" whenever she had conquered her indecision sufficiently to engage him.

But Keitha did not send a steward in search of him. Instead she patted his vacant steamer chair invitingly as Mr.

Our bane and physic the same earth bestows,
And near the noisome nettle blooms the rose.

It's Sometimes Done.
Consistency's surely a jewel, we feel,
And yet it is frequently found
That by some thoughtless people a very square meal
Is served on a table that's round.

It Sounded Profane.
Aunt Celine says:—Etta Hamm has come back an' is a-staying at Had Bacon's, which is her cousin by marriage. She's been a-living up in Newark an' has got some conceited.

Yesterday Gran'ma Podnose was a-setting here with me when we seen Etta a-entering our gate, which she simple never comes here. But I greeted her kindly, as I believe in bean hospital to folks in your own house whether you like 'em or not. So Etta settled herself in a comfortable cheer an' says she.

"Why didn't you folks come to the club meeting?" she says. "They was a election of officers an' I kneaded your votes," says she. "An' of all the times they ever was," says she, "we had 'em today." She says. "That there Bigger woman got up an' said I couldn't run for president as I were a non-resident," says she. "The idee! An' I were born here two." she says. "What did you say, 'Etta'?" says Gran'ma, reel in-trusted. "I didn't say nothing a tall," says Etta. "I jest give her a cursory glance an' went on with my talk," she says. "Why, Etta Hamm," says Gran'ma, offe scandalized, "an' you a member o' church?" says she.

Did You Know
That Ovid was born March 29, 43 B. C.? He was born at Sulmo, in the country of the Peligni, but up to his fiftieth year he lived chiefly at Rome. He was educated in oratory, but his genius was essentially that of a poet. A masterly facility of composition, a vigorous imagination, and a musical flow of verse, have made him a model for poets from Milton down. Ovid was banished by Augustus in 8 A. D., and what is known as the Tower of Ovid, near the mouth of the Danube, is supposed to have been the place where he was imprisoned for the last ten years of his life.

A Bachelor's Complaint.
Now, Ima and Ada and Patience look here,
Your heartlessness certainly makes me feel queer.
In your leap year proposals you turned me down cold,
Though you must admit, I've never been bold.

You tho't you would ask all the "bachelors" but me
(For I am a bachelor, too, as you see)
You surely can see I have cause to be grieved,
For I have been slighted, and greatly deceived.

Many leap years I've waited in hope for—who knows,
But some of the ladies might kindly propose.
But each time I've found that my hopes were in vain,
So I'm on the market till leap-year again.
You can't patch it up—I'll never forgive you,
And you will be sorry as long as you live,
I was too shy to ask you—you wouldn't ask me,
So I'll never marry any one of you three.
—Ignor Ed Bachelor.

Wants Miss "Patients."
Me rite dees stuff in dees here sheet.
Me won't goode man—name Mike Pete.
I kome vrom gunny Italee.
I want wife—Miss Patients do for me.
For why she miss me I no can tell.
For her I sure would go to—O vell,
She's good strong I heart man say.
She works in Truse Built every day.
Miss Patients no can get such man
As good as Patreack Flannygaman.
If she want me I sure want her.
I tell all rest "there's nuthin stir!"
So I will make da propos.
Dont take me for a sucker fish.
Me who rite dis can not be beat,
I vant dat girl—I sign.
—Mike Pete.

And Still They Come.
Say, Ada and Ima and Patience, you're slow.
To Mr. Paul Wareham why didn't you go?
And since other guys you pursued with such vigor
How comes it that all of you passed by John Riegger?
You tenderly beamed on much homelier codgers,
Yet gave not a glance to Allen or Frank Rodgers;
If I understand rightly, the field's open wide.
So why should a girl overlook Henry Schade?
Since you are determined some male to inveigle,
Why don't some of you try your charms on Gene Schlegel?

And the board of all men in this town there is no man.
Who's such a heart-smasher as is Buster Bowman?

And if you'd just use a sweet smile for your bait,
I'll bag 'em pretty near land Ells-worth Tait;
Try slipping up easy on Henry Rose-brough,
And ask him how he'd like a mother-in-law.

But be diplomatic, with Fred Vogel-meier;
If you'd spring it too suddenly he might expire;
Brandy Wilson's just waiting for you to propose;
So just keep right after him, don't let him doze.

You shouldn't stop 'till you've asked Sylvester Gainer.
It might do some good to pay him a retainer.
Don't let it be known beforehand to John Roland
Or he'd engage passage for one, through to Poland.

Now should you build hopes up too high on John Sarrett,
For if he refused you, you just couldn't bear it;
You might cut some ice, too, with Jerry Linton.
If you had lots of money and a dry, hacking cough;

Paul Shepard's so stubborn, just say to him—"Paul,
I'm tired of this hedging, come, speak up, don't stall."
And never give up nor consider you're beaten
Until you have plead your case to Henry Eaton.

And how he escaped you that one of you might Gally march down the church aisle with one, Hubert Wright?
As a husband he'd surely be without a companion.
And what honor 't would be to be Mrs. Jay Garrison.

—Willie Getit.

CELEBRITIES SHUN NEW YORK AS BIRTH PLACE

BY RING W. LARDNER

To the Editor of the Advocate:
I hope they won't nobody take of fences at this article as nothing is father from my thoughts than try and get people mad but it looks to me like when a person finds out some interesting facts of history it is their duty to slip it along to my army of readers.

Well the other day I was coming home from old Chi and I see usual whenever I hop on a train the first thing I always do is try and make acquaintances with some strangers so as I can maybe improve my mind a little by listening to their conversa-

New York's principle industries like baseball and actors and singers and artists and writers and etc., and you will see that every one of them is immigrants. For instance there is Morris Gest from Wina, Russia, and there is Irvin Cobb from Paducah, Ky., and there is Babe Ruth from Baltimore, Mary.

Well to make a long story out of a slide, story he then went ahead and named every body everybody I ever heard of and where they were all born and I only wished I had of took it all down on paper and pencil so as I could give full details but the best I can do is set down all as I can remember of it.

"I Told Him Who I Am and He Seemed Ticked to Death—"

tion and incidentally improve their mind to what I got to say. So I see usual way the trains are acting up now days they're no telling where they will stop and they might pull up along side of a drug store.

So I sat down by him and told him who I am and he seemed ticked to death and finally he ast where I live and I told him and to return the compliments I ast him where he lived and he says "I am a New Yorker." So I ast him was he born in N. Y. City and he give me a look as much as to say what was the matter with me and then he ast me was I joking and I said what do you mean joking and he said "of course you know I wasn't born in N. Y. City because nobody ever was."

A City of Immigrants.
So now it was my turn to ask him was he joking and he says "If you think I am you can get a bet out of me. If you can name me one person that was born in N. Y. City I will pay your fare there."

Well I am pretty well acquainted around the Big Town, as I have nick named it, so I immediately begin springing the names of some of my friends in the hopes that he wouldn't know if they was born in the Big Town or no, but he says "You are just bluffing as I know where every one of these birds were born and none of them was born in the Big Town."

"Listen," he says, "let's take a look at the different people that makes up the Big Town."

Not Business.
First Chorus Girl—So you've broken off the engagement? Did you give him back your ring?
Second Chorus Girl—Gracious! No, diamonds have gone up since it was bought, so I offered to give him what he'd paid for it—Onion.

I shall love you forever and a day," he cried passionately. "That's all right about the day, but what are you going to do with your nights?" demanded the cautious maiden.

Milady's Boudoir
Attention to the Hands.
The hands need most attention as we climb the years. If women would only realize it, there is much more necessity for tending their person and toilet as they grow older than there is in radiant youth.

Neglected hands frequently show evidence of a woman's age before even the face, to which she gives much more attention. Conceal the age lines at the wrist, long cuffs, or delicate ruffles that come well down toward the knuckles, should be worn. The nails should receive care, especially if one has to do housework. Both household tasks and age make the nails brittle, but if one rubs about the nails the nightly rub of cold cream and the daily use of good soap, the nails will remain young even after their day of youth has fled.

For an exercise to strengthen the wrist and make the supple, choose one that will work other muscles as well. Those of us who have flat and pudgy shoulders will be glad to know we can get rid of some of the extra fat while lumbering up our wrists. This result is easily achieved by the following exercise: Stand erect with arms out at side on a horizontal line with the shoulders. Clench each hand into a fist and stiffen all the muscles. The closed fist will, of course, be toward the floor, the back of the hands up. Now turn each hand until the closed fist is facing up and the back of the hand is toward the floor. In fact, if you can turn the fist a little toward the back, after facing it up, all the better for the shoulders, arms and wrists. You should feel a decided strain at the shoulders.

Everyday Etiquette
"At an afternoon luncheon at a friend's house a lady guest removed her hat, wraps and gloves," asked Jane.

"She removes her hat and, if she desires, a neck piece of feathers or tulle. She removes her hat," replied her mother.

Our Boys and Girls
At the age of ten or thereabouts boys begin to adopt a careless air of superior wisdom in regard to the regulation of the game of baseball. This is generally accompanied by careless habits. The predominant fault of most boys is the habitual practice of throwing their belongings on any chair within reach, and then to make a hurried exit to join their waiting comrades. A very good way to correct this faulty habit, is to promise the little offenders the means to enjoy some harmless pleasure if they will hang their clothing where it belongs and keep themselves neat and clean.

Another way is to buy them little banks and teach them the value of thrift, while at the same time you are helping to mould their characters. A little encouragement, such as a baseball bat, a football or any other of these treasures, will usually be sufficient to arouse their interest.

New Idea in Storing Coal.
The ingenious plan of storing coal in carbonic acid gas, as undertaken at Dortmund, Germany, gives the safety from spontaneous ignition of under-water storage, while the container offers the convenience of the overboard bunker. Each of the three cylindrical bunkers constructed, with a capacity of 2,500 tons, has semi-spherical top and bottom, and three filling openings at the top, with three discharging outlets at the bottom. The lower outlets are gas tight when closed, but as the carbonic acid is much heavier than air the upper openings do not require being absolutely leak proof. A grab on a structural steel tower unloads the coal from a barge. The coal is dropped into a small hopper, and then fed to a push-plate conveyor, which is so placed that it may serve in filling or emptying the three bunkers. The small amount of carbonic acid gas that leaks out in removing coal can be readily replaced.

Nurses & physicians recommend Resinol

For years they have relied upon it for the treatment of skin and scalp troubles, because they know that Resinol does so quickly stop itching and generally clears away the disorder. From baby's slight rash to severe cases of eczema hundreds of letters bear witness to its healing power. It's easy to obtain—easy to use. Why don't you try it? Mail druggists.

STOMACH TROUBLE AND CONSTIPATION ENDER

Suffered So He Couldn't Work for a Year but Mr. McCormick Was Cured Promptly.

"I had stomach trouble and constipation for five years. One year of this time I was unable to work, suffering untold agony. I doctored with some of the best physicians, also took many proprietary medicines, but could not find permanent relief. Finally a friend recommended Milks Emulsion. The first few doses relieved me greatly, and three bottles of it effected a permanent cure." C. McCormick, Anderson, Ind.

Mr. McCormick is only one of many hundreds who have endured torture for years and then found that Milks Emulsion gives blessed relief and real, lasting benefit. Miss Beasey is a prize pupil of a world-famed European conservatory of music, where she has mastered the instrument to the degree of charm perfection. Before entering the rank of musical comedy, she toured throughout Europe where she was enthusiastically acclaimed as an artist of rare talent.

At her debut before a critical audience in the spacious rooms of a musical comedy, the unanimous verdict was warmly congratulatory to previous triumphs.

Not only does she play musical comedy, but she is a singer of the highest order. In her repertoire, her renditions are received with enthusiastic applause, and tribute to her remarkable personality.

For Miss Beasey is a dainty, graceful personality. She is also blessed with an exquisite singing voice which she uses to great advantage throughout the entire performance. She is now selling

"The Border Wireless"
William S. Hart's new Artcraft picture, "The Border Wireless," which will be shown at the Auditorium Theater next Tuesday and Wednesday, has been designated by those who have seen it as the production of the year with a real thrill. Of course, over the past year has a thrill in a consistent form with action in every foot, but the fact that this year is concerned in a way with the mathematics of a kind of a thriller in America, the border of Mexico gives added interest and enables the star to depict certain phases

To say "Pollyanna, The Glad Girl" needed to come to our city to help make people glad and happy would be a falsehood, for I personally had occasion the past five days to learn otherwise, and I take this means to publicly thank all who helped make me "Glad" during my forced vacation: for both the "wet" and "dry" goods; those beautiful flowers, candies, jams, cakes, pies, soups, eggs, etc. Gee, you'd want to be sick all the time to receive such attention. But I had to get back on the job so as to give you all "Glad Amusement," and next week you can have "Tea For Three" with "Somebody's Sweetheart" and perhaps before the regular theatrical season is over we may hand you a few more happy glad things.

Again thanking all, not forgetting Dr. Kennedy and the nurses, one who, by the way, was going to quit me, for she said she wanted to nurse not answer the telephone all the time. So I guess THE GLAD HAND IS HERE IN NEWARK TO ALL WHO ARE ON THE "SQUARE."

Yours for fun,

The Automobile Simplified

By FREDERICK C. GUERRLICH, M. E.

AN intimate talk on the working units of the automobile, discussed in such a way that the layman can easily understand them. If in reading these articles there is anything not clear to you, ask Mr. Guerrlich about it.

LECTURE NO. 6. Ignition.

We now come to the study of the ignition systems, that is, of the devices which are used to ignite the explosive compressed mixture of gas and air, which we have in the cylinders.

In the automobile this is accomplished by the utilization of some of the well-known properties and actions of an electric current. To understand the ignition system, therefore, we must know some of the simple laws of electricity, and I will first explain these laws and what the various terms used often, mean.

By comparing the flow of an electrical current through a wire, to the flow of water through a pipe, I believe I can more readily make you understand these laws and terms.

The Volt and Ampere.
First of all, if you had a line of pipe with a water motor or other water-operated device at one end, and you wanted water to flow through this pipe, you would have to have some pressure at the source to force it through. If we call non-conductors, or insulating materials; the latter conductors.

The Spark.
Here, I believe, is the place to explain the electrical action, which more than any other, is used to give the spark by which the gases are ignited.

Coming back to water, if we had a pipe with water under a low pressure in it, we could fasten a piece of cardboard to the end of this pipe, and it would stop the flow of water; but if we raised the pressure of the water sufficiently, it would burst through this cardboard, probably with a loud report. Of course, the thicker the cardboard the greater would have to be the pressure.

Air will act much the same in stopping the flow of electricity as the cardboard does that of water. Thus a thin layer of air will resist the flow of electricity under a low pressure but if the pressure, or Voltage, be raised sufficiently, the electricity will burst through the layer of air, and in doing so, will cause a spark to be produced.

It is the above action which is used to give the spark required to ignite the gasoline mixture in the cylinder of the engine.

Examine now a spark plug. You will you know what the pressure were, you would say that it was a certain number of pounds. So, likewise, to have a current of electricity flow through a wire, or electric motor or other electrically-operated device, you would have to have a pressure at the source to force the current through. An electrician would say that the current had a certain "voltage" pressure. The Volt, therefore, is the unit of measure of electrical pressure.

This should explain to you the terms High Voltage or Low Voltage. They mean high pressure or low pressure.

What does the Ampere, or Amperes, mean? Referring again to our pipe, with water flowing through it, if you wanted to know how much water was passing through during a minute, say, you would put a meter in the line and measure the number of gallons. So, likewise, you can measure the amount of current passing through a wire, but instead of saying gallons, the electrician says Amperes, or that the current has a certain Amperage.

Thus, the Ampere is the Unit of Measure of the Electrical Rate of Flow, or of the quantity flowing.

There are certain materials, such as rubber, mica, and porcelain, through which an electrical current cannot pass; likewise, there are materials through which it can pass freely. The former notice that the portion of the plug, "A," which is screwed into the cylinder has attached to it a small piece of wire, "B," or a number of small points, which are about 1-64 to 1-32 of an inch from another wire, "C." This last wire runs through a piece of porcelain, mica, or other non-conducting material, "D," so as to be insulated from the portion of the plug screwed into the cylinder, the other end having a screw by which the wire carrying the current can be fastened to it.

If now we connect a wire to the cylinder and another to the screw, above mentioned, and then send a current of electricity under a high pressure through this wire, the current will pass through the porcelain insulated wire until it comes to the 1-64 or 1-32 air space and then burst or jump across this space giving a spark as it does so. It will then go through the top of the cylinders to the wire which is connected to them at some distant point.

The pressure or voltage required to cause the current to break through, or jump across the air gap, must be extremely great, far greater than is practical to carry enough batteries; or large enough generator or dynamo to give. Fortunately, the induction coil, which will be explained later, can be used to convert a low voltage current into one of high voltage.

Scout Joseph McNerney were appointed as temporary patrol leaders.

Troop 3.

Five applications for membership in Troop 3 were made Tuesday night and one tenderfoot scout passed his tests, making an increase in membership of six. This troop will be one of the largest under the jurisdiction of the Newark council when these men have qualified. Thirty-three are now enrolled and the new applicants will bring the number up to 39. At Tuesday evening's meeting instructions were given to firemen's lift and carry. Much of the meeting was devoted to the discussion of the neckerchiefs for the troop, no decision being reached. The Flying Eagle patrol elected Paul Pine as patrol leader.

Troop No. 4.

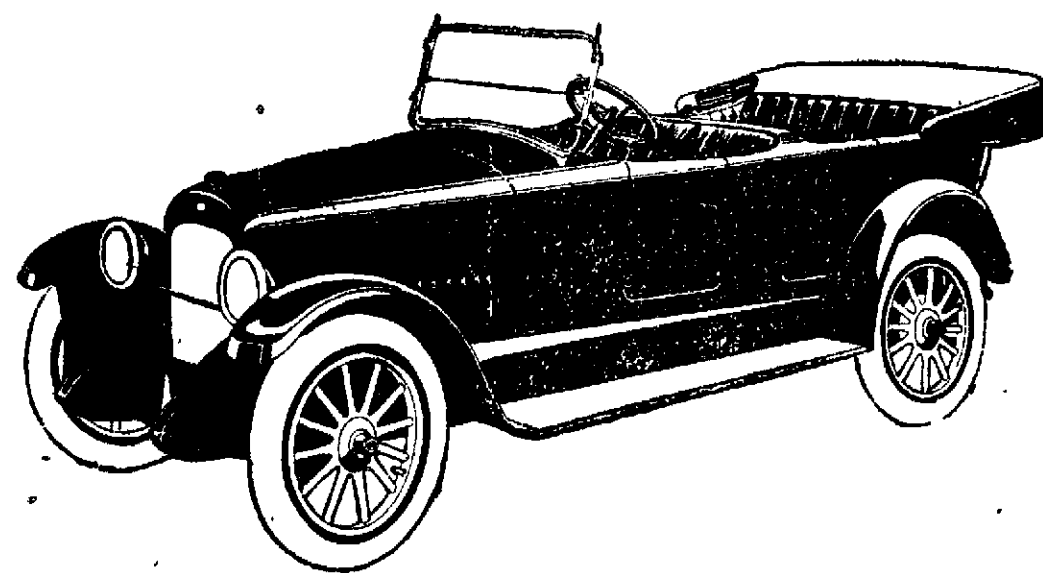

Troop 4 met Wednesday evening, in charge of Assistant Scoutmaster Frank Spencer. There were present about 30 percent of the membership and a large number of visitors. This troop is making progress in large strides and expects very soon to top the list.

Troop No. 5.

Troop No. 5, which meets at the West Side Church of Christ on Friday evening under the leadership of Harry Duane, was the first troop under the Newark council to be honored by a visit from president of the council, S. E. Alban. Mr. Alban accompanied the scout executive for the inspection of the troop. This troop has grown nearly by 50 percent in the last 30 days. During the meeting much progress was made in preparation for the second class examinations. Two new boys also took tenderfoot tests.

Troop No. 6.

Troop 6 claims to be the first Newark troop to take an overnight hike this season. This hike was staged last Saturday night. The boys went out during the afternoon, and on Sunday morning a number made the trip into the city to attend church. On Sunday afternoon they had as their guest, R. R. Harper, scout naturalist of the Columbus council. Seventeen varieties of birds were discovered as well as a large

SCOUTS TO HELP MARNE MEMORIAL

Each Scout Will Be Asked to Give Small Amount to Erect Statue on Historic Field.

The week of March 22 to 27 has been set aside as the Marne Memorial week throughout the entire United States. At this time the people of America will join in giving something, however small, to enable America to present to the people of France a statue to be erected on the River Marne commemorating the gallant stand of the people of France in 1918. Just as the people of France gave their sons, and their sons gave their lives to make possible the statue of Liberty now guarding New York Harbor, so the schools, colleges, clubs and individuals of America will give their contributions to erect a monument on one of the world's most famous battlefields.

The Boy Scouts of America consider it a great privilege to have been invited by the executive committee of this movement to join in their historical gift, and every Boy Scout in the country will be asked to contribute one cent or more to America's gift to France, and all troops under the Newark council will take pleasure in doing their bit for this cause.

Troop No. 2.

Troop 2 held its regular meeting on Thursday evening at the Blessed Sacrament church. Nearly the entire membership was present and several new boys were received. During the evening, 11 examinations were passed. A partial re-organization of patrol's was effected and Scout Harry McDonald and

Troop No. 8.

On account of the church meetings in the East Main Street Methodist church, Troop 8 has temporarily changed its meeting day from Tuesday evening until Saturday afternoon.

The Oldsmobile Eight-Cylinder Model is Made in the Following Models:

The Facemaker—standard, like 4-passenger sedan.

The Touring—standard 7-passenger touring car.

The '31' Sedan—a luxurious 7-passenger enclosed car.

The Oldsmobile Six-Cylinder Model is Made in the Following Models:

The Touring Car—a very roomy, comfortable 5-passenger car.

Convertible Roadster—open, business-like roadster, instantly convertible to 4-passenger car.

The Coupe—luxuriously appointed 2-passenger closed car with auxiliary seat facing forward.

The '6' Sedan—an elegant 5-passenger car, upholstered like all enclosed Oldsmobiles to harmonize with exterior.

DURING the past few weeks we have personally made known to many present Oldsmobile owners who, we knew, will require new Oldsmobiles next spring that there is but one certain way to make sure of spring or summer deliveries.

The facts are these: Our factory production, although enormously increased within the past twelve-month, has been insufficient to fully supply the demand during the year 1919. As a result we have been, much to our regret, forced to decline orders from many we should have liked to serve.

The orders for future deliveries already on our books, together with our previous experiences, leaves no doubt but what our 1920 allotment of Oldsmobiles will fall far short of what Oldsmobile enthusiasts in this locality will require.

Hence, we seriously advise all those who are determined that they will own Oldsmobiles next season to enter their orders at once. Within thirty days it probably will be impossible to make definite delivery promises.

WILLYS-OVERLAND CO. WILL INCREASE STOCK

The directors of the Willys-Overland company it is understood, are considering increasing the capitalization of the company to provide increased facilities which will result in large savings to the Willys-Overland company, and at the same time permit of a greatly increased capacity to meet the remarkable demand for its products.

Prior to this country's entry into the war, with a concentrated production on one or two models, Willys-Overland showed great earning power, paying 22% during the twelve months just before war was declared.

However, forcing a period of war service, Willys-Overland reduced dividends to a 4% basis and offered its services unreservedly to the government. Since then the company has met and overcome many serious though temporary obstacles. In 1917 its automobile output was rapidly reduced by government request and at the time the armistice was signed its production was wholly war work.

The stand taken by Willys-Overland during this strike, while of the greatest importance to the industry, resulted in a curtailment of production, but this year, with over 14,000 men working at Toledo and the established policy of concentrating on only two models, Willys-Overland again is showing evidence of its great normal earning power.

The two models, dealers report, are very successful and more than 50,000 of the new Overland 4's have been shipped since the model was announced November 1st. Present output is in excess of 600 per day and is expected this spring to reach 800 per day. But as the demand is steadily increasing in advance of the supply the company deems it advisable to prepare now for the establishment of facilities which will not only result in large economies for present activities, but will also insure economical production of a much greater output.

UNITED STATES TIRE CO. SALES DEPT. MEN GET SUBSTANTIAL PROMOTIONS

Substantial promotion has come to six of the oldest executives in the sales department of the United States Tire company, through the creation by the company of six important new positions. The entire country has been divided into six large divisions, each, to be under the direction of a sales manager, working directly under General Sales Manager George S. Shugart.

The six places will be filled as follows: New England sales manager with headquarters at Boston, E. H. Kidder, formerly district manager at Boston; Eastern sales manager with headquarters at New York, E. S. Roe, formerly district manager at New York; Central sales manager with headquarters at Detroit, Thomas R. Burton, formerly district manager at Kansas City; Western sales manager with headquarters at Chicago, P. C. Anderson, formerly district manager at Chicago; Southwestern sales manager with headquarters at Kansas City, H. H. Hubbard, formerly Western manager for distributors' brands; and Southern sales manager with headquarters at Atlanta, William C. Price, formerly district manager at Atlanta.

The creation of the new positions has for its main purpose the development of the sales organization to a degree commensurate with the company's rapidly expanding production.

In making these appointments the company has followed its custom of filling its good positions with men developed in its own ranks, thus offering an incentive to its workers to remain in the organization and to qualify themselves for better places. It is worthy of note that the average length of service of the six men with the company, or with companies now merged with it, is eighteen years.

URGES EMPLOYEES TO BUY STOCK IN FIRM

More and more the desirability of having employees become stockholders is being impressed upon industrial concerns in this country. The United States Tire corporation has the largest number of employee-stockholders, but the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company is pressing hard for premier honors. Although in the last sale of preferred stock, 17,400 or 50 per cent of the Goodyear shares subscribed, the company will start a drive to have every worker own stock by the end of 1920. Three more sales will be held in March, June and December on the plan of paying for the stock by pay deductions, so that complete payment will be made within a period of two years. Officials are sanguine that nearly all the company's employees will own stock within the next 12 months.

Faity to Ignore a "Cold."

The logic of colds is simple enough. Treat a cold respectfully, put it to bed for the first 24 hours, and it will retire from the scene with grace and speed. On the other hand, ignore its existence for a couple of days and it will gather such strength that soon you won't be able to think of anything else. Keep up the fight a week or so longer, going about your business as usual, and there's an even chance, in the present state of health statistics, that the cold won't be a cold any more, but will have put on the dignity of influenza. And influenza treated with contempt can show its mettle by turning into any one of a number of things that are worse, declares a writer in the New York Tribune.

An attachment to hold a safety razor blade on an ordinary comb has been invented to enable men to cut their own hair.

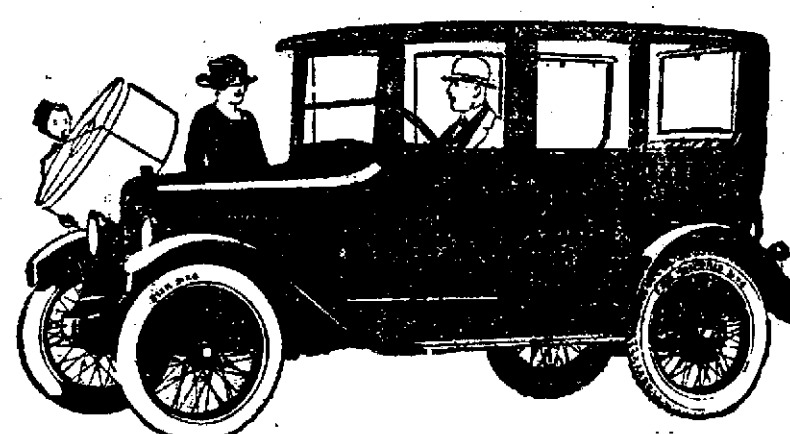

35,000 Owners Praise The New Triplex Springs

MORE than 35,000 owners of the new Overland 4 are enthusiastically telling their friends of the wonderful riding qualities of this car. Triplex Springs smooth out the rough road bumps!

"It would be an insult to put shock absorbers on this car." "The most advanced piece of work yet produced in the motor car line."—These are some of the sincere compliments paid Overland 4 by proud owners.

"Rides as no light car ever rode before."

THE LODGES

KNIGHTS OF PITHIAS

Roland Lodge

It was all your fault if you missed the greatest meeting we have had this year on last Tuesday evening. The Page rank was conferred on a class of nine. Five applications received and several balloted on. Enthusiasm is running high for the Schmitt-Wheeler 50-50 class and if you do not attend the meetings you are going to miss some of the things that will happen this winter and spring. Next Tuesday evening the Esquire Rank will be conferred on a large class. It is so important that we are to open lodge at seven o'clock and get started on the work as early as possible. Following the work is a special banquet around the table feast as some like to call. At this hour we will have an interesting speaker besides a dramatic selection by one of our Brother Knights. Something new all the time in the slogan of the Chancellor Schmitt, and believe me we are to have it. April sixth is not far away and we want to have that application you promised for that date, and enough more to make our share of the One Hundred we are to have on the fourth day for the Page Rank. Brother Knights you who do not attend lodge often should make an extra effort at this time to attend all of the meetings for the next few months. History is in the making for Roland lodge but we must have the support of every body. Come next Tuesday evening and bring an application. Get in the game and see how much good it will do you. Remember we are to have special work in the Esquire rank and the class is large and that lodge opens at seven o'clock and that we are to have a luncheon around the table and that there will be some time in the evening for the Esquire rank. You will be able to be at home at ten thirty. Keep all of this in mind and come.

Uniform Rank.

Licking Company, L. R. K. P. had a fair attendance last Monday evening. The dance committee has arranged for another series of three dances, commencing April 7. At the last dance 100 couples were entertained. The captains of the two membership campaign divisions will have their plans completed by next meeting. After the meeting there was another 30 minute drill. This drill practice is putting the boys in good shape and they are showing more pep. The company is drilling every Monday night.

Newark Lodge.

Newark Lodge met in regular session on Thursday evening. One application was received for membership and one elected to membership. One Page was proven in the rank of Esquire. On next Thursday evening the Knight rank will be conferred on a class. The campaign for the Schmitt-Wheeler 50-50 class is progressing. The Blue team of Newark Lodge will confer the Page rank in full dramatic form on this class on May 4th. All applications must be in by April 15th, so get busy. The banquet committee will be on duty next Thursday evening. It is the desire of the Chancellor Commander Clyde Wheeler that there be a good attendance.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS.

At the last regular meeting of the Daughters of Veterans, they had as their guests, Mrs. Flora Rainy, and Mrs. Smedness of Cambridge Tent No. 42. Mrs. Rainy is State Senior Vice President. At the close of the meeting

Mrs. Rainy gave a talk on the work comprising Newark tent after beautiful floor work. One application for membership was read. Resolutions on the death of Mary Sasser were read and adopted. The next meeting will be March 23, a sack lunch will be served. Each member bringing sack with sandwich etc. to sell for 10 cents.

GOLDEN HART.

Newark lodge Loyol Order Golden Hart of the World was presented with the charter Wednesday night by a large delegation of Columbus officers and members. There are 16 members in the team. The main parts are played by Jess Coffman, Orlando Pound and Ed. George. The team is in charge of J. H. Chessly. Octagon Tent has admitted a large number of new members in the last three months and several applications are on file. The record keeper, Fred Cummings, has been informed that Octagon Tent is in a fair way to win second place in tents of this class in all the United States and Canada.

THE MACCABEES.

The degree team of the Maccabees, have been requested by District Manager Devol to go to Zanesville to put on the work. Octagon tent has one of the best teams in the state. There are 16 members in the team. The main parts are played by Jess Coffman, Orlando Pound and Ed. George. The team is in charge of J. H. Chessly. Octagon Tent has admitted a large number of new members in the last three months and several applications are on file. The record keeper, Fred Cummings, has been informed that Octagon Tent is in a fair way to win second place in tents of this class in all the United States and Canada.

GALILEAN SHRINE.

Galilean Shrine No. 18, White Shrine of Jerusalem, will convene in regular session, Thursday evening, March 25, at 7:30 o'clock. Initiation.

MODERN WOMEN.

Cedar Camp, No. 4727 M. W. of A., met in regular session on Wednesday night with one of the best attended meetings that has been held for some time. Being the members present with about 29 visiting neighbors from Pataskala camp who brought eight candidates with them to receive the work. Seven applications for beneficial membership were received and acted upon. The Esquire rank of Cedar Camp and eight candidates of Pataskala camp who were admitted and instructed in the mysteries of Woodcraft. Several visiting neighbors who belong to other camps, but living in the city were present and made short talks. Deputy Master stated that the membership of Cedar Camp were working fine and are giving him a great deal of help in these class collections and that on Wednesday night, April 21, another class would be adopted and it was his desire to make this class the largest yet and that he would still continue his effort made some time ago to pay the monthly payment to each member who has a candidate adopted in this class of April 21. The offer also holds good, if you have a prospect, turn the name in at the clerk's office and this prospect is secured and adopted in this class. Now is the time to get busy neighbors, and have your insurance paid by Deputy Master for just a little work on your part.

In these class collections of adoption were over State Deputy N. C. Shorburne showed the two books of pictures, "The Value of a Life" and the one of "Why Is My Neighbor?" which was enjoyed by all members present. The refreshment committee was on the job and furnished all present with a lunch. Now, neighbors, get busy on this class adoption for the night of April 21 and show Deputy Master what the members of Cedar Camp can do when they get busy and bring in the prospects so fast that he will be on the job all the time. He has got a Fliver and can get almost everywhere and it is up to the members to keep him busy.

AMERICAN INSURANCE UNION.

Chapter No. 24, A. I. U. met in regular session Thursday evening with an overflow attendance. Twenty-three applications were presented and 12 candidates put in their appearance for initiation. This makes our membership, 954 to date. Two deaths were reported since last meeting, Edith Sheppard and baby Alta May Williams. The sympathy of the chapter is extended. A check of $1,000 was received March 15 for the claim of Mrs. L. J. Murphy. The entertainment by the men March 12 was well attended and the ladies were profuse in their compliments to the men as entertainers. The next social session comes March 26th and a splendid program is being prepared. There will be another class initiation April 1.

Jimmy Murphy To Enter International 500 Mile Race

Indianapolis, Ind., March 20.—Jimmy Murphy, who flashed from obscurity into fame by winning the inaugural 200-mile sweepstakes on the Los Angeles Speedway, has entered the eighth international 500-mile race on the Indianapolis Speedway, May 31.

Practically an unknown before the Los Angeles event, Murphy demonstrated that he is entitled to rank among the world's greatest drivers by his showing during this contest, which he won at an average of 103.2 miles an hour, after a non-stop run.

A brilliant future is predicted for the youthful phenom by racing experts, his headwork during the Los Angeles race being on a par with his driving skill. Content to roll along within striking distance of first place through seven-eighths of the distance, while his adversaries were setting what was afterwards proven to be too fast a pace, he came to the fore during the closing moments of the contest and thereafter was never headed.

To win his first championship race is an experience that has never been vouchsafed by a driver, and the fact that Murphy succeeded in turning the trick is held to prove that there is a lucky star somewhere in the firmament that is shedding divine effulgence for Murphy's special benefit.

MITCHELL AT THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN SUNDAY

There is nothing in the city that can successfully compete with Ralph E. Mitchell and his big chorus choir at the First Presbyterian church, uses all his forceful leadership and attractive personality for the exalting of the Christ to whom he has consecrated his abilities. It is not so much Mitchell but the Christ that grips the audience as this peerless song leader presents the gospel message in solo and chorus. Mr. Mitchell with his big choir will have the directing of the music at all services Sunday. Sunday school at 9:15; morning worship and sermon at 10:30; a meeting for all church officials, New Era directors, group leaders and assistants at two o'clock p. m., and evening worship and sermon at 7:30. Come and catch some of the inspiration. Mitchell's solo work is superb.

HALF MILLION WORK ON AUTOS

Ninety Manufacturers Build Pleasure Cars and 170 Make Motor Trucks—Product Worth Nearly Two Billions.

Unofficial figures compiled from various sources tell a wonderful and amazing story of the automobile industry in 1919.

Ninety manufacturers of passenger automobiles and 170 builders of motor trucks in 32 states, employing 580,000 produced approximately 1,586,787 passenger cars and 305,142 trucks, valued at $1,807,593,829 in the last 12 months.

A small group of automobile tire manufacturers produced more than half of the 30,000,000 tires made in 1919, with the other half manufactured by 215 small companies. Of the entire total the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company made nearly 7,000,000 tires, or 20 per cent. In 1920 it is estimated that 40,000,000 tires will be produced, of which this company will produce about 25 per cent.

Automobile exports last year were of startling totals. The value of motor vehicles and parts sent abroad to 81 countries was $146,334,516, of which $2,624 were passenger cars valued at $68,945,740, while 14,748 were commercial vehicles worth $35,372,419. The value of parts exported was $42,016,284. It is estimated that there were in 1919, 62,535 automobile dealers, garages and repair shops in the United States. Of the total, 32,317 were passenger car dealers, 18,943 were truck dealers, 36,427 were garages and 43,381 were repair shops.

Farmers were the largest users of motor trucks, owning 10 per cent more than manufacturers and 15 per cent more than retailers. It is estimated that 40 per cent of the car output was sold to farmers last year.

The 7,100,000 motor vehicles in the United States, of which 700,000 are motor trucks, brought $65,000,000 revenue to states from license fees.

Mathematicians figure that there are 15.96 persons in the country to every automobile and two cars in the country for every square mile.

Lovers of horse flesh will view with sadness the fact that 3,500,000 horses were displaced by motor trucks last year. At the same time it is estimated that 15,000,000 acres of land were released for food production by the use of trucks.

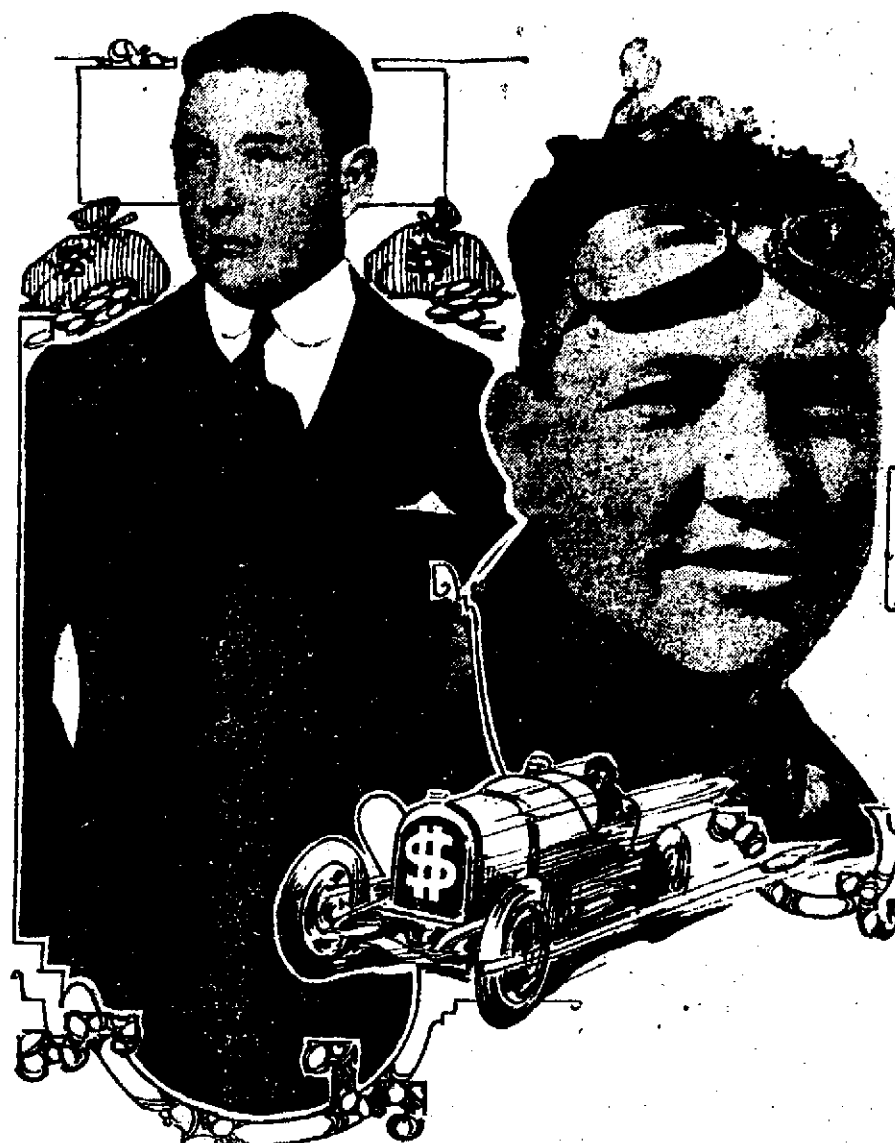

Iowa and Nebraska have the greatest number of automobiles per capita, with one car for every six and a half persons. Tennessee leads the country in increase of car registrations, with 29 per cent gain.

100,000 MILES ON ROUGHEST ROADS

If there is an American industry which is confronted with vexing transportation problems, it is the one concerned with the production of natural gas and oil. Not only are their operations carried on, as a rule, in virgin country, but oil and gas wells have a peculiar habit of spring up without regard to roads and accessibility. Because their product is carried to centrally located storage tanks by extensive pipe line systems, good roads are impractical, and the individual wells are connected to the pioneer roads by foot paths which change their character with the season.

Under such conditions, William Blum, of Lancaster, O., one of the district field superintendents of The Logan Natural Gas and Fuel company, drove the same motor car more than 100,000 miles in little more than three years. Even under the best conditions such a record would be unique, as the distance covered

CLIFF DURANT, MILLIONAIRE RACE PILOT, IS MODERN EXAMPLE OF DUAL PERSONALITY

A multimillionaire in private life, with a passion for the aesthetically beautiful, and an artist's feeling even in minor things, such as matters of dress and personal adornment, Clifford Durant, No. 1 entrant in the eighth international 500-mile race on the Indianapolis speedway, Monday, May 31, harbors within him an atavistic strain that persists in breaking out at periodic intervals, to the complete submergence of the idealistic side of his personality.

In his troglodyte mood, Durant is a modern cave man, with a lust for the thrills that coursed through his forebears when they faced the saber-toothed tiger and hulking behemoth. Danger is his cherished pastime, and automobile racing is the sport he chose to gratify it.

Thus is presented the odd spectacle of a millionaire, with everything in the world to live for, risking his life in the dizzy whirl of speedway competition. The faster they go the better Durant likes it, and while a race is on, there is no satisfying his speed appetite. Once a race is run, however, the other side of his dual personality asserts itself, and he returns to the responsibilities of his vast business enterprises and the luxury of his private life with little thought of racing until the next attack of speed fever sends him into another orgy of thrills at the wheel of a hundred-mile-an-hour racing car.

USES TRUCKS TO TRANSPORT POULTRY

Transporting perishable commodities like poultry, butter and eggs over 100 miles over all kinds of rutty roads, brick pavement and through Illinois mud from 15 to 20 inches deep is not the easiest problem in the world, and to the Frank Atlas Produce company of Lincoln, it offered a source of worry that corrugated the brow of H. L. Atlas, proprietor of the company. His accountant finally told him that the solid tired trucks in use were costing more in depreciation and upkeep than they earned. On the verge of deciding to return to horse-drawn vehicles, Mr. Atlas bought a new truck equipped with Goodyear cord pneumatics. Now he writes enthusiastically that in 12 months he has spent nothing on repairs, carries heavy overloads on the same poor roads, his gas and oil consumption has decreased 30 per cent and he is able to retain drivers because they are not tired out each night from the jolting they got from the solid-tired vehicle.

Fun for the Girl.

One evening, coming home from the theater on the street car with my lady friend, I stepped from the car and noticed an automobile coming up behind the car. I kept my eye on the automobile and took the elbow of the next person alighting after me, expecting it to be my friend. Still watching the motor, I led the elbow safely to the walk, and then turned my attention to her. But, to my embarrassment, who should I find myself escorting, but a great, tall man, who said in the sweetest voice: "Thank you, I was never escorted by a young man across the street before; you are the kindest fellow I ever met." My lady friend was following us, and she giggled over the joke all the rest of the way home.—Exchange.

CONTENT IN THEIR ISOLATION

Citizens of Little Republic of Andorra Ask Nothing of the World Save Tolerance.

While new republics are engaging attention, a very old one continues living its life in northern Spain and seemingly well enough content to remain comfortably hidden in the Pyrenees. Covering perhaps 100 square miles of fertile valley among the mountains, a census of the republic of Andorra would number no more than 5,000 persons, many of whom make matches; to buy those matches in Andorra a purchasing agent of the Y. M. C. A. journeyed from Paris during the war, and his account of the adventure in the pages of Travel introduces the little republic to the readers of that periodical. Charlemagne, one learns, gave the Andorrans their liberty something over 1,100 years ago, and there they have remained ever since, too small and at the same time too inaccessible, presumably, to have their liberty taken away from them. The bridge still stands, arching a mountain stream, on which the ancient Andorrans are believed to have signed their treaty with Charlemagne in 810. A "picture book country," says the seeker for matches, and enumerates "black mountains with real caverns, ruined towers and bridges, peasants in scarlet and green and lam-o-shanter caps driving pack mules and herds of sheep along the mountain roads." A contented little republic, apparently where all that the people ask of the outside world is that it buy their matches and other native products, and otherwise leave them alone.

HARDIN COUNTY HAS OIL FLURRY

New Firm Closes Contract For Purchase of Lease of 4000 Acres of Land Near Producing Wells.

It is learned from the office of the Midland Production company that it has this week closed the purchase of a controlling interest in a block of 4000 acres of leases in the well known Trenton fields of north western Ohio. Hardin county, south east of Lima, acquiring among these leases, property adjoining wells now producing.

The Herald Voice of Belle Center has the following to say concerning the excitement existing in that locality. "A local corporation has just been organized with funds in the treasury for the drilling of three wells upon a block of leases lying eastward of the Midland Production company's recently acquired holdings and the Midland Production company is fortunate in holding some scattered leases in the midst of this territory."

The same newspaper article, says that the leases on the territory adjoining the property taken over by the Newark company are held by the Ohio Oil company, which is arranging to build a line into this territory.

It is understood that the Midland Production company will commence active drilling of two or three wells adjoining the present production as soon as material and tools can be shipped from the Indiana field where it has them ready for shipment. Local stock holders express themselves greatly satisfied with the outlook of the newly acquired territory which in addition to the preparation for drilling on the West Virginia territory and the installation of a gasoline plant to extract gasoline from the present West Virginia production and the drilling now going on in Licking county by this same company makes the company very active for a young organization and local stock holders are expecting great things from the early summer's operation.

The Midland Oil company is starting drilling in the Owen Cooper ridge No. 1 immediately east of the same company's Trenton production and local stock holders are expecting great things from the early summer's operation.

SHIPLEY WELL SHOT.
The Ohio Cities Gas company shot the Shipley No. 4 in Licking township, Muskingum county, Friday. Nine inches were swabbed in a 100 barrel tank before it was shot. The hole is now filling up.

SWAB 40 BARRELS.
Forty barrels were swabbed from the P. A. Moore well in Pike township, Coshocton county yesterday by the Ohio Cities Gas company. The Moore was then shut down to make repairs.

ASHCRAFT WELL SHOWS.
There are about 300 feet of fluid in the hole on the No. 1 New Ashcraft well in Licking county. The company planned to shoot the well yesterday but could not wait to the mud.

CLEAN OUT WELL.
The Trinway Oil and Gas company is cleaning out the well on the A. J. Little farm, near Trinway.

SHAMP LOSES APPEAL IN TAX APPRAISAL

In the common pleas court in the case of Wm. M. Shamp versus Fred S. Wilson, auditor, and the state tax commission, being an appeal from the finding of the state tax commission as to the appraisement of various parcels of real estate belonging to plaintiff in East Newark, the court, after hearing the evidence, affirmed the finding of the state tax commission.

DAYTON HIGH TEAM IN CHICAGO FINALS

Chicago, March 20.—Six high school teams from as many states, were matched today in the semi-finals of the second annual middle-western intercollegiate basketball tournament of the University of Chicago.

Central High of Minneapolis was on the losing side in the first round, while Dayton, O., was pitted against Boone, Iowa, and Wingo, Ind., with Macomb, Illinois. The contest for third place will be decided tonight between two of the afternoon winners. The third team which draws a bye, will meet the winner of tonight's game in the finals Monday.

In its search for fuel the Argentine government has found four distinct and well defined petroleum areas in that country, in addition to several manifestations that will be investigated further.

Chicago Grain Review.

Chicago, March 20.—Free selling on the part of commission houses had a weakening effect today on the corn market. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to 2 3/8 cents lower, with May 15 1/2 to 1 5/8 and July 14 1/4 to 1 1/2 were followed by upturns

all around from the initial bottom level.

Oats were easier in sympathy with corn. After opening a quarter off to 18 advance, including July at 77 to 77 1/2, the market sagged a little further before beginning to react.

Provisions reflected the course of grain. Besides, accumulating stocks tended to depress values.

Wall Street.

New York, March 20.—Further profit taking incidental to the week end, accompanied the early dealings in the stock market today. Several of the recently strong issues reflected selling of this character, while others moved upward. Motors and their subsidiaries were the strongest features. Stutz making a new high record at an advance of eleven points to 215 while

General Motors rose ten points and Stromberg carburetor 3 points. Marine preferred also was strong, but reactions ranging from substantial fractions to 3 points marked the course of steel equipments and oils.

Motor shares and their accessories were the sensational features of today's short but lively stock market session.

General Motors on enormous dealings

rose one to three points between sales to 387 1/2, an extreme gain of almost 45 points and Stutz added almost 14 points to its recent remarkable advance at the new maximum of 217 3/4.

Oils, which usually keep pace with any spectacular movement of motors, were inclined to react, as were also most of the representative steels, equipments and rails. Pronounced strength was shown by some of the coppers and shippings. Profit taking provoked moderate reactions from highest quotations in the final dealings, although general motors continued to soar. The closing was irregular.

Sales approximated 600,000 shares.

Mrs. S. Edward Lucas Tells How She Recovered Her Health After Long and Serious Illness.

MRS. S. EDWARD LUCAS.

Mrs. S. Edward Lucas, wife of a local painter, living at 414 East Main street, Springfield, is highly gratified to express my gratitude for the way tied over her experience with Reflex. Reflex has helped me.

I had been ill so long and tried so many remedies without getting relief that on account of my general run-down condition I had begun to believe that I had lung trouble and despaired of ever getting well. I had stomach trouble, indigestion, sick headache, dizzy spells, my limbs ached all over, and my nerves were all unstrung. I was run down to a shadow of my former self, took little or no nourishment and seldom got any sleep.

I started taking Reflex about two weeks ago and the change in my condition is really startling. I am eating, sleeping well, my stomach does good. I have been to the drug store, Holborn, not bother me and I am feeling and

"NERVLAX HAS MADE A NEW MAN OF ME LATELY"

C. F. Bibbee, of Hanna, W. Va., Says Nervlax is a Wonderful Medicine.

"Nervlax simply has made a new man of me lately—nothing like it—and I cheerfully recommend it to all my friends," writes C. F. Bibbee, well-known resident of Hanna, W. Va. "For the past few years I had been a chronic sufferer from stomach, liver and liver trouble and could find nothing to relieve me. I suffered from gas on the stomach; was constipated and so nervous I could not sleep at night; my digestive organs were in bad shape and I suffered a general break down in health. I was induced to try Nervlax and after taking one bottle I feel like a new man. I cheerfully recommend Nervlax to persons afflicted as I was."

Signed, C. F. BIBBEE, Hanna, W. Va.

Mr. Bibbee is a well known cattle dealer and stock buyer and is well known throughout West Virginia. Nervlax is a purely herbal remedy and has been on the market for the past three-quarters of a century. As a remedy for stomach, liver, kidney, bowel and blood disorders it has no equal. Nervlax is on sale at the R. W. Smith Drug Company.—Adv.

AMUSEMENTS

Mr. Hackett has the role of the friend, a fashionable man of the world who has solved himself for the loss of the girl he loved through her marriage to his college chum, by plunging into the follies and frolics of society and club life. Later it becomes evident that the husband is not only careless of the happiness of the girl, but he resents the devoted attitude of the friend. Thereupon friend and wife, with the finest of motives, conspire to "jolly" him out of his foolish suspicions and arouse in him a more progressive outlook on the social and domestic side of life. Their planning almost wrecks the happiness of all three, but the quick wit and saving sense of humor of two of them, bring understanding and the inevitable happy ending.

ALHAMBRA.

Jack Pickford.

Large crowds says "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," with Jack Pickford as the star, at the Alhambra yesterday. The many readers in Newark of John Fox, Jr.'s books will have their last chance this evening to see Jack Pickford in the role of one of the best liked boy characters in American fiction. Chad, the hero of the photoplay version of Mr. Fox's novel, is a perfect role for Jack Pickford. The book itself sold more than 1,000,000 copies and is well known to two generations of Americans.

Not only is the story of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" a true account of the customs of the mountaineers, but also a beautiful representation of some incidents of the Civil war.

A beautiful love story involving a mountain girl's sacrifice of her lover adds a touch of pathos to a beautiful photoplay.

A Prizma and a Fox with events from all parts of the world are added features.

"Puppy Love."

Do you recall the old team of Murray and Mack? They made us laugh a number of years ago, when double Irish and double Dutch comedy was one of the most popular forms of entertainment. Then Mr. Murray went into screen work. His appearances in Paramount-Mack Sennett comedies have stamped him as one of the most brilliant burlesquers and legitimate comedians in the country.

Recently, when "Puppy Love," Lila Lee's new Paramount picture which will be shown at the Alhambra Theater tomorrow, was being made in the West, they needed a comedian to play the role of her father, a hard-boiled, wealthy, Mr. Sennett was imported and he loaned Charles Murray for the occasion. The latter enjoyed his dip into legitimate photodrama immensely. He kept everybody roaring, from cameramen to the audience, and the funniest acting of his career in this character.

Lila Lee is, of course, delightful in this story of youth and summertime. The rest of the cast is also fine, according to reports. It is said to be one of the pictures of the year that you can't afford to miss.

Bray's Photograph is also seen.

"The Mystery Girl."

Ethel Clayton, one of the foremost emotional actresses, plays a titled European lady in her latest Paramount Picture, "The Mystery Girl," which will be shown at the Alhambra Theater next Monday and Tuesday. Princess of Lurania, the lady in question, drives a motor ambulance on the western front where she meets Captain Barnes, an American army officer, and he falls in love with her.

Miss Clayton's skill as a driver of motor cars, stood her in good stead in the ambulance driving scenes, and she soon showed that she could handle a big ambulance truck as easily as she drives a light racing car. Miss Clayton's intrepid spirit was well shown recently when she went west to make Paramount Pictures and decided to make the trip across country in her motor car.

"Venus in the East."

Anna Q. Nilsson, who is the beautiful and unapproachable Mrs. Pat Hyatt in "Venus in the East," starring Brynna Waghorn, is one of the most popular leading women on the screen. She is the heroine of the picture, which is quite natural, for she was born in Ystad, Sweden.

In "Infidelity," "Her Surrender," and "The Court of St. Simon," she starred, and in "Venus in the East," which will be shown at the Alhambra Theater next Wednesday and Thursday, she gives a striking characterization of the beautiful and aloof Mrs. Pat, the magnet that draws Buddy McNair, the wealthy hero, from his home in the West.

GEM.

Thursday morning, February 15th, when George Beranger was ready to direct some final scenes in "A Manhat" from Knickerbocker, William Fox production, which will be shown at the Gem Theater on Monday, he received the following telegram:

"Snowbound" New York side Corona Have minutes. What shall I do? Virginia Hamilton.

Captain Robert Goldrick who had been a London chum of Mr. Beranger in the Royal Flying Corps, and was one of the most reckless of pilots—who thought nothing of flying beneath all the bridges over the Thames—had been watching Mr. Beranger's work for a few days, flying to the Long Island studio from Larchmont.

"What's on your mind?" asked the captain of Beranger. The director looked at him and the telegram.

"She'll be here inside of thirty minutes," said the pilot.

In exactly fifteen minutes a familiar voice heralded the approach of the heroine.

"Oh, it was gorgeous. I wish I could be snowbound every day if I could be rescued by so gallant a captain in so splendid a 'ship,'" she cried.

One of the best interpretations of dual roles ever seen on the screen is enacted by pretty Louise Lorraine, in "Elmo, the Fearless," the thrilling universal serial now being shown weekly at the Gem Theater. At different times an heiress and an adventuress, Miss Lorraine differentiates the roles with remarkable skill. She is supporting Elmo Lincoln, the Herculean star of the serial.

GRAND.

Cosmo Hamilton wrote a novel, "Eve in Exile," and his heroine was pictured as the sweetest, gayest, most intelligent and sympathetic young woman in the wide, wide world. The American Film Company bought the screen rights to the story and began prospecting for someone who would exactly fit in with Mr. Hamilton's idea of Eve. They found her, and you'd almost know who it was without being told—Charlotte Walker, the screen star of the New York production of "Tea for Three" is still the talk of the town.

"Eve in Exile" is now completed. Miss Walker is, as we know she would be, superb. Her delightful personality is so precisely suited to the part of "Eve" that she draws you irresistibly and you follow her love adventures with the feeling that she is a real girl, from your own immediate circle of friends, and not just a player on the screen.

The story-book "Eve" was a sweet, eager, adventurous, curious, lovable young woman—and as that's just what Charlotte Walker is, her real life is her story. Her hard work to fill the part, she lived it instead of acting it. That's one reason why "Eve in Exile" is going to be such a hit when it appears on the screen in our local theaters.

See it at the Grand Theater tomorrow or Monday also Pearl White in Chapter 6 of "The Black Secret." (Sunday only).

LYRIC.

Harry Eldon has arranged for a special program at the Lyric for Sunday, which will be a very pleasing and appropriate entertainment. Harry's Oh Say Girls will make their appearance in a high class concert, and as the show is considered the best singing show of the season a very pleasing concert is assured. As an extra feature William Fox presents Albert Ray and Elinor Fair in "The Vagabond Luck," a drama of fast horses and high life. Coming next week, Zarrow's American Girls.

NEWARK'S BIG STORE

YOUR SPRING CORSET

BEFORE you even think about wearing your new Easter gown you should give first consideration to your corset. This suggestion is worth thinking over. A new corset will lend much to the appearance of the new gown or any other costume.

FROLASET PRONOUNCED FRO-LA-SAY

FRONT CORSETS LACE

Though there are many good makes of corsets, we feel most enthusiastic about the Frolaset front lacing corset. There seems to be that touch of smartness and perfection in the lines on which the Frolaset is designed that lifts it out of the class of the ordinary; and yet we have models that are moderately priced.

80 HENS LAY 50 EGGS A DAY

Sebastian L. Kreib, farmer and oil producer, of Fennelton, Butler county, Pa., is getting on an average of 50 eggs daily from 80 hens, and most of these are pullets at that.

Mr. Kreib uses "Pratts" constantly and has found that it pays. He says, "The Pratts and your poultry will ALWAYS pay."

Pratts Poultry Regulator, mixed with a good egg-making ration, not only makes hens lay, but the eggs wanted for hatching will produce sturdy chicks that will develop into A-1 pullets and cockerels. Test "Pratts" with this understanding: "Your Money Back if You Are Not Satisfied." Pratts Poultry Preparations will make your poultry pay. C. S. Osburn & Co.

OPTOMETRY— ITS VALUE TO THE PUBLIC.

By O. P. COOK.

When the near-sighted persons submit to an examination by an optometrist, he in most cases experiences results that amaze him. On wearing his glasses his distant field of vision is enlarged—the extent depending upon the degree to which he was myopic or short-sighted.

The point in the last couple of talks is that no person, no matter how educated or clever he is can know the least thing about his eyes without submitting to an examination.

Most people of mature age have the eyes, many claiming and possessing, and acuity of vision that is above normal. It often surprises such folks to be told that they see TOO WELL. True, nevertheless.
